WORK ON FORD PLANT STARTS SOON

Miner Appointment As Playground Director Urged By City Council

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

A large number of persons was given the opportunity to see Richmond's first-rate police force on parade Saturday afternoon.

* * * *

Richmond citizens who think that our police force is just a police force, should go to Oakland or any of the bay cities and chat with police officials.

* * * *

Every one of them is high in his praise of Chief of Police J. Daniel Cox and the members of the local department.

* * * *

There is one feature about the Richmond police force that one finds seldom in any other town.

* * * *

That is that the men do not assume a haughty air but are friendly to everyone.

* * * *

Some of these days watch the policemen sationed at Ninth street and Macdonald avenue before and after school.

* * * *

The officer takes the little boys and girls across the street to protect them from traffic.

* * * *

And every one of those tots especially the boys, are as proud as Lucifer to be seen walking across the street with the officer.

* * * *

Richmond has a police force that it should be proud of—and is.

* * * *

Now to get down to everyday affairs.

* * * *

One can imagine the joy of Roy Chapman Andrews when he unearths the hip bone of some prehistoric animal in the wilds of China.

* * * *

One can see Mr. Andrews eagerly digging into the sod until he comes upon a white bone.

* * * *

Tenderly he lifts it, brushing the dust away. Ah, 'tis the bone of the lost hipercotuoys.

* * * *

Mr. Andrews breaks into a war dance, holding the animal bone high in the air.

* * * *

But Mr. Andrews has nothing on some of our amateur gardeners.

* * * *

Picture John J. Citizen going out into his back yard on a sunny morning.

* * * *

He takes his spade in hand and surveys his potato patch.

* * * *

In the manner of Hamlet (or was it Hamlet) he looks at the potato patch, just wondering whether "them spuds" are ready to be dug.

* * * *

"To be or not to be, ah, that is the question," John Citizen mutters.

* * * *

Then he starts to dig. Very Carefully he unearths a potato.

* * * *

He breaks into a war whoop dances around, holding the spade in one hand and the potato in the other.

* * * *

He runs into the house, arousing his family.

* * * *

Then to the neighbors' homes, boring them with the tales of his garden.

* * * *

And then, finally, he watches that potato being cooked for supper.

* * * *

At supper time he sits down and eats the potato, remarking through the course of the meal of the glories of his potatoes and his garden.

POST TO BE FILLED AT MEET

Providing the man is qualified for the position, the city council last night went on record as favoring the appointment of a local man to fill the vacancy in the school department caused by the death of W. L. Seawright, playground director.

A motion was adopted recommending to the school trustees, the appointment of George D. Miner, at their meeting this evening.

The matter was brought to the attention of the council by Councilman Russell Meyer, who stated that rumors were about that the school board intended to appoint an outsider to the position, in preference to a local man, who has been engaged in the work for the department for the past seven years.

Interests All

"Maybe I am getting off on the wrong foot" said Meyer, "in bringing this matter to the attention of the council, I have been told that I am, but I feel it is something that is of interest to all of our citizens. I understand that at the meeting of the school board tomorrow evening an appointment of a successor to the late W. L. Seawright is to be made. There is a local man, who has worked with Seawright for the past six years, his work was satisfactory, and it seems to me that this body should go on record as favoring the appointment of George Miner.

"There are two or three out of town applicants for the position, who seem to be held in favor over the local man. What the reason is I don't know. The local man should certainly be given an opportunity to prove his fitness. Most of the

BUDDY POPPY SALE TODAY

With Mayor A. L. Paulsen buying the first Buddy Poppy, members of the American Legion Auxiliary today started selling the poppies to aid the disabled War Veterans in the Mare Island hospital. The sale will last until Memorial Day, May 30.

The poppies are made by the disabled veterans in the Mare Island hospital, with the auxiliary furnishing the material and taking charge of the distribution.

For many of these men employed, the poppy money is the first money they have been able to earn since the war. No service work accomplished with the profits from the poppy sale can excell this service to the disabled, which gives them an opportunity to enjoy the strengthening and encouraging experience of again taking their places among wage earners.

Mrs. Clare Barry of the local American Legion Auxiliary, is in charge of the poppy sale in Richmond, and urges that everyone wear a poppy, not only to honor the dead, but to contribute something to the disabled.

JURY LIST GIVEN IN SPEED LAW TEST TRIAL

The first step in what promises to be one of the most startling trials in the annals of California law will be held in Richmond next Thursday when C. L. Peterson will appear before Justice of the Peace A. A. Alstrom, charged with speeding.

Peterson cannot be arrested for speeding, according to the contention of his attorney, W. S. Robenson, because there is no speeding limit in the state.

When the traffic laws of the state were recently amended by the last legislature, the portions of the law not amended were not mentioned in the revised law, Robensen said. Among the unmentioned sections is the reference to a speeding limit. Hence the attorney declared, this state has no speeding law.

Peterson, on advice of his attorney, has demanded a jury trial, and if the verdict in the local court is unfavorable, he said, he will carry the case to the higher courts.

Jurymen will be selected from the following list, Judge Alstrom said:

Mrs. Emma Amaral, James C. Bly, William A. Brown, Mrs. Anna Coward, Earl R. Dummond, James Donohue, Mrs. Gladys M. Edwards, Phillip Eckman, Mrs. Margaret Fowler, Mrs. Kate Garvin, Robert Grice Mrs. Cora E. Hall, Max Henry, Mrs. Alice Irving William H. Johnson, Robert F. Kennedy, Frank E. FLOOR PLANS SENT TO CITY

From reliable sources it is understood that active work on the new plant of the Ford Motor company will start about June 15.

It is stated that contractors who will be permitted to figure on the work, have been selected, and plans will be placed in their hands in a short time. Two weeks will be given them in which to submit their offers.

Yesterday morning City Engineer E. A. Hoffman, received from B. R. Brown, chief of construction of the Ford company at Detroit, a detailed drawing of the floor plan of the building.

Plans Shown

The plan sohws that the building will run north and south, with the offices and entrances at the north and south, with the offices and entrances at the north end, facing on Scott street.

The structure will be 1050 feet in length. The assembly building will be 320 feet in width. To the south of this will be the warehouse which will be 400 feet in width.

Back of this, and on the channel will be the wharf, which will be 500 feet in length and about 50 feet in depth. On the wharf running east and west will be two spur tracks, and there will also be a spur track running through the warehouse.

One Story

In the assembly part of the building the east half will be one story in height and the west half two stories in height. There will be a spur track running the entire length of the building, and also a spur track the entire length on the east side of the structure.

The plan shows that between the building and Tenth street on the Ford property, there will be a concrete pavement constructed and used for parking of cars.

At the north end of the building, there will be show rooms, a lobby, employment offices, employment entrances, coat and hat rooms.

The main offices will be on the second floor.

Starts Soon

Some months ago Edsel Ford made the statement that the plant would be ready for operation this year. In order to accomplish this fact, undoubtedly a large force of workmen will be employed, after the contracts are let, and the piles for the foundation driven.

Company officials also stated the plant would start with a production of 400 cars daily. It is estimated the plant and equipment, when completed, will represent an investment of about $5,000,000.

FIREMEN BEAT LIONS IN CONTEST

By making a strong hitting rally in the last two innings, the Richmond Firemen finally defated the Richmond Lions, 6 to 4 yesterday in a hard fought baseball battle on the Richmond Union high school diamond.

The Firemen started the scoring in the first inning when Addison and Lavenue crossed the home plate. Heise scored for the Lions in the second period, and the Lions went into the lead in the third when Klatt and Pinelli trotted in from third.

The fire fighters added four more counters to their total before the game was over. Hathaway and Martin scored in the fifth, while Lavenue and Kamb came home in the sixth. Swenson scored for the losers in the first of the seventh inning.

Kamb occupied the mound for the victorious Firemen, and allowed but four scattered hits. Lemon started in the box for the Lions, and pitched nice ball until the fifth inning, when he sprained his wrist on a tumble at first base. He was nicked for three hits by the Firemen, and struck out three sluggers. "Babe" Matteri took Lemon's place, and finished the game, allowing three more hits.

Martin earned the longest hit of the game—a triple. Swenson and Klatt also did nicely at home plate, both collecting doubles.

The next game of the Richmond City Twilight league season will be played between the Native Sons and the Standard Oil nine this afternoon on the high school lot. The Native Sons are tied with the Odd Fellows for first place, and should give the Standard Oil outfit plenty of work in today's contest.

BOBBY JONES WINS NEW CUP

SUNNINGDALE, England, May 19.—UP—Bobby Jones, United States open golf champion and captain of the American Walker Cup team, today added another trophy to his extensive collection by winning the "golf illustrated" gold vase tournament from a big field of international competitors. Jones' score for the 36 holes was 143.

Hon. H. J. Brownlow, took second place. Brownlow finished with a 37-38-75 for an aggregate of 144.

Three other American Walker Cup players — Dr. O. F. Willing, George Voigt and George Von Elm — and Douglas Fairbanks the motion picture star, competed in the tournament. The veteran, Willing, was badly off his game and found almost every banker on the course. He made many astonishing recoveries, but scored very poorly with a 37-35-72 in the morning, and a 41-39-80 in the afternoon, for a total of 152.

Voigt equalled par in the morning with 35-37-72, and had a 37-37—74 for the final round, to take third place in the tournament with 146. Von Elm finished two strokes behind with 148, shooting 38-35-73 for the first round and 36-39—75 for the afternoon's 18 holes.

Fairbanks drew a gallery of 500 spectators, but showed no signs of "stage fright" and turned in a creditable 41-41—82 for the morning round. He retired from the tourney and played in a private match during the afternoon.

Jones played disinterestedly in the morning round and made no attempt to score. With a gallery of 3,000 spectators, including the Prince of Wales, Duke Henry and the Duke of Gloucester following his play, he displayed true championship form.

LOCAL PLAYERS WIN IN NET CONTESTS

Six Richmond tennis players survived the third round singles of the Contra Costa tennis tournament, and three local doubles teams survived the first round doubles contests at Crockett Sunday.

Ideal playing conditions prevailed throughout these matches and a good many hotly contested games were waged betwen the various contestants. Richmond, who entered the tournament with more players than any other club, took the majority of the honors in the two day's matches.

A great many spectators witnessed the playoff and the enthusiasm that prevailed among the players and spectators helped to make the starting of the tournament a great success.

ship as she sank slowly toward the earth.

Suffer Heat

The passengers were more interested in iced water and oranges than the thrill of the flight—for the Zeppelin wirelessed while over the airport, asking those below to prepare ice water and oranges. They said they were suffering from the heat.

So were the thousands who had waitedpa tiently throughout the hot afternoon to watch the air liner arrive, circle about the field waft its huge bulk gently toward the ground, and anchor. The heat did not prevent the earlier crowd from being swelled by others as the hour of its arrival drew near, and an enthusiastic shout from at least 4,000 throats went up as the dirigible came into view, — cruising at a moderate speed from the east.

Almost everyone in Seville had a chance to see the Zeppelin as it flew over the city, prior to the landing.

Royalty To Fly

It was confirmed at the field that only Col. Emilio Herrera, of the Spanish aviation corps, and the Infanta Alfonso, a cousin of King Alfonso, will join the other passengers at Seville. It had been reported that Mrs. Mary Pierce of New York, would go on board for the trans-Atlantic flight.

The flight from Freidrichshafen was made without incident. The Graf Zeppelin left there at 5:18 p. m. Sunday, and after crossing France and Spain, and after being sighted over Tangiers, in Morocco, on the north African coast, reached Seville practically on its schedule.

Unless mechanics discover something wrong with the motors, the Zeppelin will start for Pernambuco, Brazil, shortly after dawn in the morning.

Odd Fellows Nine Defeats Guardsmen

The Odd Fellows of Richmond added one more feather to their much be-feathered cap Sunday afternoon when they swamped the Battery B nine of the National Guard of Oakland by a score of 12 to 3.

The Richmond three-linkers collected 16 bingles off Massine and Valencia, National Guard chuckers, while Johnny Babich, pitching for Richmond, allowed but four safe hits. Babich fanned 12 batters, Babich walked four guardsmen. Massine walked two and Valencia walked another two for the Oakland boys.

Johnny Babich and Matterri collected a homer each, while Gordon garnered a three bagger.

Box score:

Richmond	12	16	0
Battery B	3	4	3

Batteries: Babich and Rosano; Massine, Valencia and Curran.

El Cerrito Scout Troop Wins Ball Game

The Boy Scouts nine of El Cerrito handed a 7 to 3 defeat to the picked squad from five Piedmont Boy Scout troops Saturday in El Cerrito.

The box was occupied by Penpraz for the El Cerrito squad and E. Gailbraith was nicked for 10. Penpraz fanned nine Piedmont sluggers, while Gailbraith whiffed 14 Richmond boys. Dunkle did the receiving for Richmond.

Box score	R	H	E

Piedmont	3	4	2

Batteries: Penpraz and Dunkle; Gailbraith and Shine.

Helpful Neighbors Nab Housebreaker

GLENDALE, Ca., — Residents of this small community may be safely described as resentful of law-breaking intruders, according to the experience of O. U. Ward, 27. Ward was taking the furniture out of an unoccupied house here. A few minutes later he was surrounded by a ring of men and women armed with shotguns, pitchforks and other handy weapons. He was arrested on a burglary charge.

Y. M. I. NINE DEFEATED SUNDAY

The Cushion Cigar nine, of Oakland, substituting for the Oakland Eagles, who failed to appear, defeated the Richmond Y. M. I. aggregation by a 4 to 3 score Sunday at Bushrod park.

The fast game was won in the eighth inning by Richard, Cushion Cagar chucker, who gained a home run with one man on base.

Paoli, pitching for the Richmond team, and Richard, of the Oakland team, both allowed eight hits. Paoli fanned ten batters and walked three, while Richard walked seven Richmond athletes. Johnson received for the locals, and Tex performed behind home plate for the visitors.

Dance Passes 120th Hour

With more than 120 ohurs of almost continuous dancing behind them, dancers in the Vaudeville Dance Marathon in El Cerrito, sponsored by El Cerrito Post 340 of the American Legion, were beginning to appear a little haggard and worn this morning.

Al (Keeley) Faccini, of El Cerrito, the only local boy now surviving, appeared in good shape last night and declared he would be able to hold out indefinitely.

Faccini had a little tough luck at the outset of the contest loosing his partner, but after a few hours of solo dancing he obtained another, by the disqualification of one of the men dancers.

MELODRAMA AT CALIFORNIA THEATER

Adventure, love, laughter and beautiful clothes and settings are the features of "Slightly Scarlet" the Evelyn Brent-Clive Brook co-starring picture which will show at the Fox-California theater for two days, starting today. The story of "Slightly Scarlet" abounds in action. It is one of the new type talking motion pictures, a fast-moving plot depending on action for its climaxes, enchanced and vivified by smart dialog.

Evelyn Brent and Clive Brook made Paramount's first all-talking success together. It was "Interference." Since that time they have both risen rapidly in the ranks of motion picture stars. Dialog brought them new opportunities and each, individually has made the most of the chance. Brook is noted for his suave, polished performance. Miss Brent has earned for herself the title of "queen of melodrama." She is always dramatic, always fascinating.

"Slightly Scarlet" brings Miss Brent and Brook together in Paris Each admires the other secretly but they cannot arrange a meeting. Miss Brent is a member of an international band of jewel thieves, held to crime against her will be the sophisticated men-character, Paul Lukas. Brook is apparently a suave English gentleman. Miss Brooks ia assigned the task of robbing Eugene Pallette, a new-rich American, of a valuable necklace. She takes a house in Nice, next door to the Pallette family. Then she discovers that Brook has taken the house on the other side of the Pallettes. At last they meet and fall in love.

After this dramatic meeting one of the strangest plot twists ever seen on the screen provides a graat surprise thrill. The author and directors of "Slightly Scarlet" work their plot carefully, making use of its tremendous suspense possibilities and twisting its surprise elements into great entertainment values.

In addition to Miss Brent, Brook, Paul Lukas and Pallette, the cast includes Helen Ware, recently seen as the mother in "The Virginian." Morgan Farley, the young lieutenant in George Bancroft's "The Mighty," and Henry Wadsworth, the sailor in "Applause". Virginia Bruce, a beautiful blonde actress, recently given a longtime contract by Paramount, here has an important support role.

El Cerrito Awards Contract For Insurance

Awarding of the contract for automobile property damage and liability insurance to the low bidder, M. A. Hays Company, for $176.08, by the Council of El Cerrito at its meeting Monday night, brought forth caustic remarks from Councilman Peter Larsen.

Larsen stated that J. L. Conlon representative of the M. A. Hays company was given practically all of the city insurance business last year, and some of the members, by mutual agreement, had decided to give the insurance to some local resident and tax payer this year. Larsen also asked Mayor Beck if he knew whether anyone connected with the city was receiving any commission on the insurance business.

Mayor Beck replied that he did not know of anyone who was receiving money, and, if Larsen knew, he should tell the council.

Larsen answered that if he did know, he would not tell Mayor Beck.

The motion of Councilman Hans M. Nissen, amending the motion of Councilman Ernest O'Brien that the contract be awarded the M. A. Hays company, to award the contract to the lowest bidder who was a resident and taxpayer, was lost for want of a second.

Following was the vote on Councilman O'Brien's motion: Ayes: Councilmen O'Brien, Lee, Beck. Nays: Nissen and Larsen.

Public liability insurance on streets was awarded to M. Brenneman, a local resident and taxpayer, whose bid was $295.65 per year, over a three year period, in preference to the low bid of $277.50 per year made by the Union Indemnity company. The motion to award was made by Councilman Phil A. Lee. All of the councilmen voted in the affirmative.

INGAGI TO BE SHOWN AT RICHMOND

Makers of wild animal hunt pictures will be hard put to follow successfully, "Ingagi," the film which comes to the Richmond theatre the 27th, 28th and 29th. It is in eight reels and is declared to be a long series of thrills from the first moment to the last.

The picture is an amazing record of the expedition of the safari headed by Sir Hubert Winstead and Capt. Daniel Swayne into the Belgian Congo and the district where lie the great mountains known as Mikeno, Karisimbi and Visoke, on the slopes of which live the giant anthropolds, gorillas that seem nearer human than any other living beast.

The most startling feature depicted in this picture, sponsored by Congo Pictures, Ltd., is the discovery of what may easily be creatures that are half human and half ape. Apparently, also there is a tribe of natives, lowest in all in the scale of humanity, scarcely as intelligent as the apes, who each year after an elaborate and hideous wierd ceremony, give one of the women to the gorillas. That these women are taken as companions by the great apes is claimed and some of the pictoral evidence in "Ingagi," which means gorilla, seems to bear out this belief.

In other respects, "Ingagi" indicates clearly that the expedition had more than the usual share of adventures with wild animals. Despite that the wild life in Africa is said to be rapidly disappearing, there seemed no dearth of it, insofar as the Winstead-Swayne safari was concerned.

They had encounters with elephants, rhinos, leopards and lions and among other things caught an immense python, measuring 65 feet in length.

The picture is supplied with sound effects, giving the jungle voice at last upon the screen.

William J. Campbell assembled and edited the immense amount of exposed film brought back from Africa. Adam Hull Shirk wrote the titles.

MEN HELD ON CHARGES AT EL CERRITO

Emmett A. Sullivan and Fred J. Compagle, both of Oakland, appeared before Police Judge A. G. Thompson of El Cerrito yesterday on charges of being drunk, disturbing the peace, illegal possession of liquor, destroying evidence and resisting an officer. Sullivan is being held in lieu of $5000 bail and Compagle is being held in lieu of $250 fine and $25 bail.

The men were arrested by Traffic Officer Howard Thulen, who answered complaints of residents on the east side of El Cerrito that two drunken men were disturbing the peace on the east side of El Cerrito.

According to police reports, Thulen found the two men with two bottles of liquor ,which he said they attempted to break. They succeeded with one bottle by hitting it against the other. The remaining bottle, Thulen said, they attempted to break by striking it against the fender of the police car.

The bottle withstood the pounding, but the fender of car did not, and Thulen said a bent fender was the result.

Thulen declared that when he attempted to interfere with the men's attempt to destroy the liquor, they put up a fight, and a short struggle followed before he arrested them.

AUTO CRASHES TAKE HUGE TOLL

Motor vehicle accidents result in an annual economic loss in California of $70000,000 an amount sufficient to cover an annual corporation payroll of 40,000 employes. This is the monetary loss to the state estimated after a thorough and detailed check from all possible sources and submitted in a report at the recent convention of the California committee on Public Safety.

An idea of the anguish and suffering resulting from motor vehicle accidents can be gained from the fact that the death of 31,000 persons and the injury of over a million others per year in the United States is now the national traffic toll. Loss or impairment of earning powers of wage earners of families is one serious result that cannot be figured in terms of money. The National Safety Council estimates accident costs upon the basis of $5,000 per fatality, $175 per personal injury, and $50 per property damage accident. Based on this formula the cost of automobile accidents in California last year is estimated as $64,000,000.

But figures based on total losses of all insurance companies in the state on personal injury policy liabilities last year show an estimated $30,000,000 loss under this heading. Total losses for property damage liability amounted to $4,000,000. But of these, an analysis of 4024 fatal accidents reported to the California State Automobile association shows that in 40 percent of them the accidents were of a type to which liability insurance had no application. They were those in which the individuals killed were solely or mainly at fault. Considering this, the $34,000,000 equals only 60 percent of the losses actually suffered.

Computations continued along this line showed a total estimated loss through accidents of $69,500,000 which checks within eight percent the $64,000,000 total based on the National Safety Council estimate. All insurance issued was not covered in the figures available, so that $70,000,000 was considered a reasonable accurate estimate of the annual monetary loss due to automobile accidents in California.

G. M. T. Camps Lauded By Police Chief

Major General John L. Hines' headquarters at the Presidio of San Francisco is in receipt of another splendid indorsement of the Citizens' Military Training camps which is contained in a statement from August Vollmer, famous police chief of Berkeley, California, and professor of police administration in the University of Chicago. Chief Vollmer has long been interested in the government's efforts to help develop young manhood through these summer training camps in which, as he points out, citizenship and physical development are among the major activities.

"The Citizens' Military Training camps," declares Chief Vollmer, "place no obligation upon those who attend to enter the military service nor engage in any future wars—but should wars come and young men be drafted as they were in the last conflict, it will be better that they are prepared to do their duty and at the same time do it well and effective'y.

"This is a great opportunity for healthy boys who are seking adventure. The Citizens' Military Training camps give them a natural outlet for fun and adventure. They are taught the value of discipline and self re'iance. Their welfare is guarded during the entire training period. Wholesale recreation is offered along with the discipline and when these youngsters return to their homes they are better qualified to meet the responsibilities of citizenship.

"Here we have an ideal vacation without cost, plus the opportunity to learn hov to swim, shoot, box and wrestle—all at the government's expense. At the same time opportunities are offered to work out on the track, play handball, football, baseball and all the other games that young, healthy Americans indulge in. Boys leaving their homes to attend these camps come back real men, better prepared than ever to meet their obligations."

HUNT STILL ON FOR MISSING JURIST

A search in Richmond Annex for Judge Edward W. Engs of Alameda county, mysteriously missing since late last week, has been abandoned, it was announced last night by local police.

A reward of $1000 has been offered for information leading to the discovery of the jurist, for whom posses have been organized throughout California.

The latest clue, being followed by police of Oakland and departments of the San Francisco peninsula, was that the judge had been trudging the highway seven miles south of San Jose.

Hundreds of persons, volunteers, police, firemen and Boy Scouts, searched the eastern foothills and the Contra Costa county canyons for a trace of the judge, but without success.

The search centered today about Hayward, where several persons had reported that they had seen a man resembling the missing judge, on Saturday and Sunday. Bloodhounds also had picked up a scent in that vicinity, but hopes fell when the scent was lost sometime later.

A number of clues leading to Martinez, Piedmont, Oakley and other bay region towns were pursued, but none were evocative of any definite results.

Dragging of Lake Temescal was fruitless.

The judge's brother, Dr. John S. Engs, dentist, was actively aiding the search, but members of the judge's immediate family were beginning to lose hope of finding him quickly, although still optimistic that he had not come to harm.

The judge has been missing since Friday when he wandered away from home after a night's illness.

The four defendants in the east-bay liquor graft trial which Judge Engs had been hearing, announced today that they would file appeals or motions for a new trial, through their attorneys.

Defendants were J. J. Collier, J. L. Davis, A. R. Shurtleff, former deputies and Jack Gardella, Livermore cafe proprietor. All were found guilty of conspiracy.

APPOINTMENT OF MINER URGED

work of this position is outside of the regular curriculum, and takes in the athletic activities of the schools. I understand that the city indirectly pays for this work, and w eshould let the school board know how we feel in the matter.

"Technically we have nothing to do with the appointment but when we are paying the salary, we should certainly be permitted to make a recommendation. I would like to see this body take some action."

Motion Passed

Councilman George F. Imbach, then moved that the clerk be instructed to write a letter to the school board stating the council favored the appointment of Miner, provided he was qualified for the position.

This motion was then seconded by Meyer, and considerable discussion of the question followed, before roll was called.

J. N. Hartnett—Personaly I favor the appointment of a local man but this seems to be out of our jurisdiction. I don't think it is policy for this council to go on record.

A. B. Hinkley—Most of the members of this body are conversant with Miner's qualifications. The least we can do is to check up on them. Each member of the council we should let the school board and ask for the appointment.

Fair Play

V. A. Fenner—It seems to me that we should go to the school board as individuals and not as a body.

Russell Meyer—It was not my idea to attempt to dictate to the school board what it should do, but it seems to me that something has to be done in order to give the man a break. Action means influence, and that is what is necessary.

W. W. Scott—We would all like to see a local man get the position, if there is no question about his qualifications. I doubt whether the council going on record would do any good.

Walter Johnson—Judging from what has been said a local man should certainly be given a chance. I cannot see that any harm will be done in asking consideration of Miner.

Vote Called

A. L. Paulsen—I don't know Mr. Miner, but would like to see a local man get the place, but it seems presumptuous on our part to meddle in the affairs of the school board.

George F. Imbach—I wish to call for a vote on this motion. It will certainly not do any harm to let the school board know how we feel about the matter.

The roll was then called, with the result the motion was carried by the following vote:

Ayes—Scott, Hinkley, Imbach, Meyer, Johnson.

Noes—Fenner, Hartnett, Paulsen.

The board of school trustees is composed of R. E. Slattery, J. O. Ford and Dr. W. M. Bullock.

EL CERRITO COUNCIL MEETS

After much discussion, the El Cerrito city council, on a motion of Councilman Peter Larsen, laid over indefinitely the acceptance of the map of the subdivision to be known as Arlington Villa, applied for by S. D. Miller & Co.

Mayor J. R. Beck and Councilmen Larsen and Hans M. Nissen stated that they were against any improvement that did not call for sewers, as previous experiences had shown it brings nothing but trouble.

Councilmen Ernest O'Brien and Phil A. Lee voted against the motion, believing the sewers could be installed when the tract was built up.

Suggestion of Councilman Peter Larsen that Stockton Avenue, between San Pablo avenue and Terrace Drive be made a stop boulevard, was laid over for one week for further consideration.

Petition for a street light on San Pablo avenue between Potrero avenue and Blake street, and Potrero avenue and Cypress avenue, was referred to light commissioner Ernest O'Brien for one week.

Mayor J. R. Beck appointed the council as a whole and City Engineer Ross L. Calfee as committee, to go over the ground Saturday to determine whether the city wanted to put through a fifty or sixty foot street on the opening of Liberty street, between Schmidt and Moaer Lanes.

Larsen reported that he had an estimate of $1,000 to remove the buildings on the right of way and install a culvert.

Application of the Women's Auxiliary of Louis Hagen Post of the American Legion by Ruth McMichaels, chairman, for a permit to sell poppies on May 24th was granted by the council.

Recommendation of Councilman Peter Larsen that the council take steps to destroy the weeds in the city was referred to City Attorney T. H. DeLap, with instructions to draw up a resolution. Date of protest will probably be set for June 2.

The council also ordered street commissioner Larsen to have the weeds on Fairmont avenue cleared before May 30th, Memorial Day.

Request of Chief of Police R. R. Cheek for a two weeks' vacation, starting June 9, was granted by the council. Cheek's request for an additional leave of ten days with pay was denied by the council, as it was believed it would set a bad precedent.

Suspect Pleads Not Guilty To Assault Charge

MARTINEZ, May 19.—Fred P. Daniels, of Pittsburg, today pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, growing out of his alleged slashing with a razor of Jack White, two weeks in a Pittsburg street brawl. He is now in jail in lieu of $3,000 bail.

PART TIME LAW CHANGED

School children of Richmond, who are under 18 years of age, and who are not attending full time schools, and who are not regularly employed, will be required to attend the Continuation School at least three hours a day, as a result of the new constitutional educational law which was passed by the last legislature, and becomes effective July 1.

"The education of employed minors in California has taken another important step under the new law," stated Mrs. Helen Shedden, principal of the Richmond Continuation school. "The essence of the new law is that children not attending regular full time schools will be required to be busy, either at school or at work, and we recognize the importance of keeping young people busy. The problem of educating these young people who are employed will also be simplified, as the new attendance requirement will make it possible for us to give them definite instruction during periods of unemployment, and thus fit them for better positions in the future. As stated in an announcement from the state department of education,' "we hope to see every boy and girl of California receiving educational and vocational guidance as long as he is in school, placement in a good position when he leaves and continuation education until at least his eighteenth year. With our educational and pre-school programs, we hope some day to have the whole state going to school."

F. Healey Passes Bar Examination

Francis P. Healey, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Healey, of Thirteenth street, received word yesterday that he had been successful in passing th examination to practice law in California. He is planning to open an office here in the near future.

Junior High Sets Record For Banking

F. C. Shallenberger, junior high school principal, announced yesterday that Longfellow Junior high school has ben the first junior high school in the state to make a 100 percent school banking record. Shallenberger declared that with an enrollment of 531, the shool has maintained a banking average of 97 during the entire term.

"That does not mean that one of two pupils have opened up an account just to get their names on the banking list, Shellenberger said. "It means that every pupil is a regular and steady banker every week.

Miss Arietta Coon, school banking director, thinks the record is a particularly fine one and places Richmond in the lead in school banking.

"To have over 500 pupils engaged in and interested in regular and systematic savings is a fine thing, especially for students of the junior high school age," she said.

For the record the school has made, it will be awarded a large banner in the school colors of navy blue and gold.

The Longfellow faculty members having advisory classes during the time that school banking is done are: Phyllis Adams, Ruth Emery, Marian Friendman, Frances Head, Ann Johnson, Lewis Johnson, Miriam Kiraly, Irma Krause, Charles McLafferty, Anna McLaughlin, Florence Patnott, Pearl Pennington, Beyrl Peters, Mollie Ross, Leo Snow, Leo Viano, Mary Warrenburg, Clyde Whiteley.

Eight Percent Of Automobiles Registered Here

Nearly eight percent of the total registration of motor vehicles in the United States is found in California, reports the California State Automobile association. At the first of this year, according to records, California had 2,026,268 motor vehicles registered. This figure is greater than the total number of motor vehicles registered in England, four times as many as Australia, about ten times as many as Italy, twice as many as Canada, and about three times as many as Germany. Total registration in the United States is 26,501,000.

The United States has 76 percent of the motor vehicles of the world. The total world registration is approximately 34,700,000 cars. The gain in world registration is much more rapid than that in the United States alone. In this country a gain of eight percent in registration was shown in 1929 over 1928. But last year there was a twenty-three percent increase in foreign sales of American-made cars. There were 710 motor vehicles imported in the United States last year. There were 1,015,000 motor vehicles exported from the United States and Canada.

Over $2,000,000,000 was spent last year in the United States on highway and street construction according to figures. There is now a total of 660000 miles of surfaced road in the country.

Last year 75,000,000 tires were built in the United States. The automobile industry uses 87 percent of the rubber imported into the United States.

The wholesale value of the cars and trucks built during 1929 in the United States and Canada was $3-483,900,000 while the average retail price of the automobiles produced was $812. There are now 4,300,000 persons employed in the motor vehicle and allied lines. More than 67 percent of the plate glass produced in America is used by the automotive industry.

S. P. Trains Have New Color

The 1930 fashion dictate for western railroad passenger trains calls for an outer coat of "pearl gray."

This raiment as the proper thing for select trains was made fashionable Sunday when Southern Pacific's crack Daylight Limited, Los Angeles-San Francisco flier, made its appearance painted in an attractive pearl gray from engine to observation car.

The new color scheme is a distinct contrast from the standard dark green coaches and makes the Daylight Limited not only the fastest train in the west, but "America's most distinctive," according to statements by E. W. Clapp, general passenger traffic manager for the railroad.

Simultaneous with the adoption of the new color scheme, additional new equipment was placed in operation on the train. The outstanding feature of this is a new-type club car with separate lounge and smoking compartment for women.

The Daylight Limited has been a daily feature train in Southern Pacific service since 1923, according to Clapp, having been originally operated in 1922 as a weekly train.

Our Own Vacation Booklet

SUMMER'S sudden leap into the lap of spring this week has set many women talking about that hardy perennial topic—where and how to spend the summer vacation. Without encroaching upon the territory—or the adjectives—of the resort booklets, we're going to offer a few seasonable suggestions to our sex on how to get the most out of hot weather holidays. Here goes:

MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

1. If you have a husband, do consult his taste about where to go. After all, he pays the bills and why should you always insist on a mountain hotel if he prefers a beach bungalow—or vice versa? The ideal arrangement is for both husband and wife to like the same kind of vacation resort, but, if they don't, he should be given his choice half the time—assuming you both go to the same spot.

2. If you have children, don't drag them to the sort of place where they must be dressed up continually. No healthy, unspoiled youngster under twelve—whether boy or girl—likes that. If even the prettiest girl-child does like it, something's wrong with her. A child in summer should wear as little as possible and have the utmost possible freedom—also the chance to absorb the beauty and health of real outdoor life, especially if the rest of the year has to be spent in crowded city or smug suburb.

3. If you take a house, a bungalow or a camp tent, don't be too hospitable! You will be keeping house and feeding your family under new and probably somewhat primitive conditions, and that's quite enough for you to do, without keeping open house every week-end and feeding all your friends who can find you with a car.

4. If you are not boarding, simplify your menus to the lowest common denominator of cool salads and fresh fruits. Small children, of course, must have their required ration of cereal and spinach, but grown-ups can get along perfectly well with a minimum of roast and boiled and with no elaborate, time-and-labor-consuming desserts. Every doctor advises simple foods and light eating during hot weather.

5. Unless you are the sort of woman who is frankly unhappy when she cannot "dress up" several times a day, wear simple clothes on your summer vacation—and as few of them as the law allows. There is now excellent medical authority for what we natural sun-worshippers have always known—the invigorating delight of sunshine applied to an area of bare skin as considerable as possible. (Of course, sane precautions should be taken to avoid sunburn.)

6. Be outdoors yourself, every possible moment, in order to learn again the beauty as well as the physical well-being inherent in the world of nature. Whether you lie in a hammock under the pines, or hike along mountain trails, or swim in sapphire sea or lake, or sit in a rocking-chair under a country maple shelling peas—have your feet on earth or water, your eyes on blue arc of sky. Nothing in the world is more exquisite than the purple shadows on a horizon of hills, or the rose and crimson and gold of sunset reflected in a quiet evening ocean.

7. Resolve not to spoil your summer holiday with pettiness—a wife's traditional suspicion of what her husband is doing in the city, snobbish manoeuvres for social precedence at the Saturday night dances, malicious veranda gossip about other women or young people.

8. If you can possibly find time, and unless your doctor forbids, go in for some sort of sport or exercise on your summer holiday. One of the most encouraging things about girls and younger women is their interest in sports. Even the older women often can swim, or golf, or take long walks—if they'll only make up their minds to do something besides keep house, or rock on the piazza, or motor.

9. If you can't get away from home for all the hot weather—even to one of the places, like our Point, from which you can commute to work—get away for every instant you can steal; every week-end, every long daylight-saving late-afternoon-and-evening, every holiday, and certainly (if you are a wage-earner) for your sacred two weeks. Every woman needs a change from New York, much as many of us love it.

10. For heaven's sake, don't let our dogmatic directions spoil your vacation, if you prefer some other kind; we are merely writing out of a happy heart and a "home from home" family experience with the simplest summer life in a beach bungalow, where we can dive into the heart of a green wave, bask in sun-warmed white sand, watch sunset paint twilight sky and tide, sleep cool o' nights—where, thank the fates, we are now!

A MOTHER'S THOUGHT

Little baby fingers that clung to me—
The only hold on life they knew—
Fat, dimply legs and toes
That wriggled when I gave a bath
Soft, tender flesh that chafed
And needed powder and kisses—
You see, it seems only yesterday
That he was born!

I was watching him yesterday,
I realize keenly
That he is growing away from me,
Getting taller and gruffer
In a way I can't manage.
But I could bear to lose him,
To lose his baby face and childish ways,
If only I could know that his soul was growing
Along with that healthy body,
And that, no matter how much of a man he became,
He would never be too big for ideals—
He would never be too big to be just and kind.

JUDY.

WHERE THEY DON'T BELONG

Woman's place, it has been finally voted, is not in the Presbyterian pulpit. But in the same day's newspaper appears the report that neither is woman's place in prison; or, to be exact, that the tiniest percentage—1,483 out of 16,632—of the population of New York's penal institutions is feminine. Women may not be good enough to preach, but they're good enough to keep out of jail!

P. S. No wonder men don't want women in the pulpit—it's the only place left where a man can be certain that women will still let him talk!

TO A CHANGEABLE LADY

You climbed into my heart,
High, high;
Opened its windows
To the sky—

Swept all its cobwebs
Down, and then
Started housekeeping
There again.

I can't tell whether
You really meant it;
But—buy it this time,
Don't merely rent it!

Oh, Go to Bed

By Eliot Kays Stone

"DAD, how did the moon get broken?"

"How did the moon get broken?"

"Yes, it's broken in two. Where did the other half go?"

"It didn't go anywhere. We just can't see it."

"Why can't we see it?"

"Because the shadow of the earth keeps us from seeing that half."

"How did the moon get broken?"

"Oh, go to bed."

The Housewife's Scrap Book

Cutting bread lengthwise, instead of the usual way, saves considerable waste when making sandwiches in fancy shapes.

Vinegar kept in stone jugs will affect the glazing and the vinegar becomes unwholesome; therefore it is advisable to use glass jars or bottles.

Worth Knowing

When putting a hook in hardwood you will find it much easier to slip the handle of a knife, or any steel implement, through the hook and turn until it is secure in the wood.

Adding a teaspoonful of powdered alum to the water when washing silk stockings will make the threads in the hosiery firmer.

A DISH A DAY

By Karen Hollis

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

Ever since I urged a few weeks ago that scallops be released from their customary leathery jackets of egg and cracker crumbs, readers have urged me to offer more recipes for cooking fish au naturel. It is only natural, therefore, that I offer a fervent plea for filet of sole and filet of flounder.

KAREN HOLLIS

Restaurant cooking, I believe, has brought them into disrepute. So often have they made their appearance shrouded in a heavy covering, and accompanied by a rich, highly seasoned tartare sauce, that we are apt to forget what a delicate, tempting flavor they have when simply prepared.

In winter it may be permissable to jacket fish sometimes, but in spring and summer never! Let them come out of their winter coverings and appear on the table simply and temptingly prepared. Scorn the frying pan and cook them in the oven.

A most delicious way to cook filet of sole is the following:

FILET OF SOLE WITH WHITE GRAPES

1 pound filets of sole
3 tablespoons French dressing (made with lemon juice)
2 cups white grapes, skinned and stoned

Wash and clean the fish thoroughly and arrange on a shallow, buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with French dressing made of one part of lemon juice to two parts of olive oil and seasoned with salt, pepper, mustard, paprika and sugar.

Skin and stone two cups of white grapes. This can be done quite easily with a little practice. Starting at the stem end, take hold of the skin with a paring knife and it will tear off. Dig out the stones with the point of the knife, taking care not to crush the grapes. Arrange the grapes over the fish and bake in a moderate oven for twenty-five or thirty minutes.

Serve with cooked greens, such as spinach or mustard, and a combination vegetable salad. Cucumbers are particularly good with fish.

May Birthday Gifts

IN MAY gifts for outdoor use are especially appropriate. If your gift is to one who has a garden perhaps one of those white-metal cats to attach to a tree in an upward scrambling position would give pleasure. A good assortment of these quaint garden animals in wood or metal are to be found in gift shops. Weather vanes are popular and will be just the thing for the bungalow or garage. Cushions are always a safe gift, for one can hardly have too many. Those for the porch will be acceptable now.

The emerald is the May birthstone. In the glassware sections gift suggestions in the emerald tone are plentiful. A porch beverage set, stemmed glasses, plates, glass sippers for tall iced drinks, are some of these.

How about a traveling clock in emerald, or perhaps you would prefer a porcelain kitchen clock. A fancy little green and gold lamp would be nice for summer use. Then there are cigaret cases and lighters. A wrought iron stand with an emerald glass top would be something new. In jewelry the clip pins are now much in favor, and they come with emerald settings.

The apple blossom is the chosen flower for May. A cluster of the artificial variety would make a lasting gift. Trays in emerald green have apple blossom decorations. There are clothes hampers in all shapes and sizes in green, which would delight the practical housewife. One of those attractive cotton bedspreads for summer use might be acceptable.

Use wrapping paper in an allover apple blossom design and tie it with tinsel ribbon in the emerald hue.

Dressing for Restaurant Dining

The Semi-Formal Costume in All Its Details That Shows The Good Taste of Its Wearer

By Ann Roberts

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

TO STAND out in a crowd—to look well dressed when all about are looking their best, too—that is quite a little task to undertake.

Then, two ways of looking well dressed for restaurant dining are: 1. To do as all the best dressed women are doing, and dress more or less according to the pattern of the moment, and, 2. To wear something so ultra, and to wear it so well that you will be the centre for all eyes.

Now, the latter is not easy to accomplish. It takes time and money—a certain amount of good figure and good looks to carry off the clothes once you have them, and certainly an enormous amount of interest must be thrown into the occasion or you are apt to miss out after all the trouble and pains.

A New Black Chiffon

IF YOU want to know about the newest and most outstanding restaurant frock of the minute I will tell you.

It is the black chiffon sketched on this page.

It has puffed sleeves so new they startle you—tucks running crosswise—length for sleeves and skirt and a quite low back to make it even more interesting as another view is gained.

WHITE VELVET COAT TRIMMED WITH THE MOST SILVER OF SILVER FOX SKINS

You can easily see that it has all the charm of novelty and all of the smartness that the cleverness and ability of one of the smartest shops in New York can set upon it.

I believe that these puffy sleeves, moreover, are the coming thing—that this dress is only a forerunner of something that will be accepted quite naturally later on.

Jewels and Other Things

AT THIS business of smart dressing plus finding stray rays of passing attention, the accessories count so much. They can make or mar the picture. And they should be only parts of the costume really—never anything so pronounced as decoration.

Let's look at the perfect assemblage of these, then, that accompany this black chiffon frock.

The six-strand necklace of ruby beads (they might also be emerald) with glittering galleria clasp—that for color against a wonderful setting for jeweled decoration.

RESTAURANT FROCK OF BLACK CHIFFON WITH THE NEW PUFFED SLEEVES

The hat—black satin draped.

The shoes — black crepe opera pumps.

The coat—white velvet, short and wrappy with kimono sleeves edged with silver fox of the very white variety.

Altogether this ensemble is strictly what is called a "high" fashion and should not be attempted by those whose wardrobes all told cannot live up to the standard set.

Hazel Nut Brown Chiffon

ANOTHER note for smartness just now is hazel nut brown—this in very sheer materials, chiffon and marquisette. An interesting dress is made of this color in chiffon. It has a deep fitted yoke of marquisette, and edging of rows of narrow lace extending straight across the arms, a deep flounce for the skirt set on by the same lace edging. It is sweet simplicity, but so flattering for those whose types can bear this sort of thing.

You would wear a tight tulle turban with this in matching color. And galleria jewelry would be excellent. Don't go in for earrings if you are wearing an elaborate necklace, but rather use bracelets in matching stones.

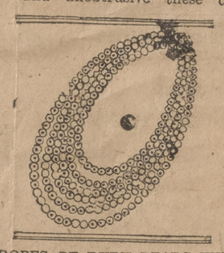
Handbags for Semi-Evening Ensembles

NOT embroidered heavily—not decorated — keep them simple and unobtrusive these days.



ROPES OF RUBY BEADS WITH GALLERIA CLASP

The Accessories That Make or Mar—What to Emphasize And What Is Best to Leave Off Entirely

The old idea of brilliance in this direction is dead for semi-formal wear.

The fact is that the same sort of plain, flat envelope purse can be carried over from afternoon to evening—crepe de chine with galleria clasps or faille with crystal, if the dress is not too formal. Old brocades in envelope style are best to carry with more dressy clothes but they should be dulled by age or restrained by art for they take their places merely as accessories.

The Safe Restaurant Frock

IF YOU want to be quite correctly dressed and have no wish to lead a new styling — stick to the chiffons.

The plain ones are good with Alencon lace cape yokes.

With them the short evening wraps combine excellently—a turban hat if you wish to dance, or a wide-rimmed one if you are just sitting.

Printed chiffons are always good worn with short jacket coats which can be trimmed with fur edges if you wish.

Sheer straw hats—or lace straws look well with these, draped when small ones are needed—wider brimmed and discreetly trimmed when this is called for.

Plants Harmless to Sleepers

THE belief that plants should be removed from sleeping rooms at night is entirely without foundation, according to Dr. A. F. Woods, director of scientific work in the Department of Agriculture.

Instead of plants being harmful they are beneficial, says Dr. Woods. During the day they give off oxygen and moisture and take up carbon dioxide. At night these processes slow down and small amounts of carbon dioxide are given off, but a whole greenhouse full of plants would not give off enough carbon dioxide to injuriously affect the composition of the air.

The only occasion for removing plants and flowers from sleeping rooms is in the case of poisonous plants and in cases of people who suffer from hay fever. In these cases, explains Dr. Woods, plants and flowers to which the patient is sensitive should not be in the room

Taming Unruly Locks

A DISTRESSED young man writes to ask, "What can I do about hair that won't stay put? I give it good care, having it shampooed, the scalp massaged and a tonic applied regularly. What's more, I brush it thoroughly every day. But it looks cuckoo when I get up in the morning, and I have to wet it with cold water and brush it for a long time before it's tame. At that, it's nothing to brag about."

FRANCES OLIVIER

Of course, the first mistake our young correspondent makes is to use cold water on his hair in the hope of taming it. Warm water is the thing to use—it has coaxing qualities. Wise mothers use it when they are training straight hair to follow a wavy course.

Young women with flyaway locks do not need to take all the time and trouble nnecessary to coaxing hair the warm water way. Permanent waving being what it is to-day and professional hair setting being so very successful, the most efficient way to tame unruly hair is to take it for a "permanent." But, alas, we dare not suggest this course to any man!

Do you know, we are curious to know, J. M., why you do not avail yourself of one of several excellent hair-grooming preparations on the market? They make the arrangement of the hair so easy and they insure its staying put for hours and hours.

If you would like to have your hair pomade specially prepared by the corner druggist, here is the recipe for an excellent preparation:

HAIR POMADE

Olive oil.....90 grams
Yellow wax.....70 grams
Spermaceti.....10 grams
Bergamot oil.....2 grams
Melissa oil.....0.3 grams

The ingredients must be stirred thoroughly together over a slow fire, then a few drops of oil of geranium added—or any other flower essence.

To get the best results from this pomade, it must be used sparingly. Rub a little, a very, very little, into the palms of the hands and then apply directly to the hair, with long, even strokes. Then dress the hair.

Speaking of permanent waves, we just this day learned something of tremendous importance to every girl who is contemplating having a "permanent." We will impart this piece of news here in the column next Monday.

It Is Said—

You can successfully keep mice away by stuffing up the holes in baseboards, pantry, &c., with steel wool, but it is better to tack it down securely, so the mice do not appropriate it.

Sir—You are under consideration by the President for the appointment to the Supreme Court. Kindly answer the following questionnaire:

1. Have you always been kind to yellow dogs?

2. Did you ever hand down a decision that chop sticks are dangerous weapons, thereby incurring the wrath of the Chinese vote?

3. Is your private life open to inspection, week days, Sundays and holidays?

4. Do you think you could satisfy Senator Borah?

5. How is your health?

6. If nominated, could you stand the strain of having the Senate debate about you for five or six months?

7. Have you ever spoken slightingly of Amos and Andy's humor, which might offend the colored vote?

* * * *

8. If your nomination is sent to the Senate, can you pull the strings so Senator Heflin won't speak in your favor?

9. Do you think the verbal abuse you will get in the Senate is worth the salary of $20,000 a year?

10. Did you ever hand down a decision giving a corporation an even break?

11. Assuming each Senator will make a seventeen-hour speech on your qualifications, or lack of them, how old would you be by the time you're confirmed?

12. Wouldn't it be better if you resigned now on account of old age?

13. Did you ever make a mean crack about mosquitoes which might turn both Senators from New Jersey against you?

14. Can you get the indorsement of the American Bar Association, the United Mine Workers, the American Tobacco Company, the United Cigar Stores and the Elks?

15. If appointed to the Supreme Court, would you rule that kerosene cans are illegal because they might be used to contain liquor?

* * * *

16. Did you ever deny gentlemen prefer blondes, thereby incurring the resentment of the Scandinavian vote?

17. If nominated, would you be willing to be listed on the New York Stock Exchange so the Senator could trade in your votes?

18. Are you clean shaven?

19. If raised to the Supreme Court bench, would you let Chief Justice Hughes's whiskers affect your decision on a safety razor patent suit?

20. In case of your elevation to the bench, could you keep your judicial robes from getting wrinkled?

21. Could you write a simple decision in not less than 18,000 words, not one of which would be intelligible to the ordinary person?

22. Do you own a brief case?

23. What do you use it for—for carrying briefs or for bringing your lunch to work?

24. How are you at tossing a medicine ball?

25. Could you get away for a couple of weeks in the winter to go fishing on a houseboat?

26 (Optional). Do you know anything about law?

THIS AND THAT

Babe Ruth gets paid at the rate of $519.42 per game and he's been earning the 42 cents so far.

He may be an ardent dry, but when it comes to explaining accounts, Bishop Cannon is willing to let you swallow anything.

Sign in a Sixth Avenue cafeteria: "A trayful for a trifle."

One of the heirs is protesting the $123 expense account for all those charity meetings of Al Smith, Julius Rosenwald and Mr. Coolidge. Did he expect Calvin was going to bring his own lunch?

The Supreme Court will let them arrest you yet for picking dandelions to be made into wine.

When Mayor Walker appoints his next Police Commissioner he'll have a hard time finding a man to fill Grover Whalen's spats.

Sunday is Mother's Day. Don't forget to send her a mammy song.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

GOLDEN DAWN

By MARC O'FARRELL

This story is based on Warner Bros. Vitaphone production of the play by Otto Harbach and Oscar Hammerstein II.

SYNOPSIS

Dawn, mystery girl in the canteen of the German-sized British protectorate of East Africa, is forced, by tribal decree, to become the mystic and virgin bride of their black god. Tom Allen, prisoner of war, is in love with her He overhears secret that she is white. When Shep, tribal bully, forces himself on the girl, Tom whips him to a frazzle in fierce fight. Vindictive, Shep concocts story to Captain Eric, commanding officer, that Tom had spoken to the god's bride during her sacred jungle vigil. Fearing uprising from natives, Captain Eric decides to send Tom, his staunch friend, to England. Tom is resolved not to leave African soil.

INSTALLMENT SEVENTEEN

Hasmali's voice rose over the treble of the women. "Where is the Maid," he asked, in accordance with the prescribed form of the ceremony, "who will marry the god Malunghu?"

"Dawn, daughter of Mooda," the natives chanted in response.

Mooda and her attendants restored her garments to her, clothing her forever, in obedience to Malunghu, against the eyes of men. Now, purified by Malunghu's fellow god, the moon, Dawn was accepted by the natives as a goddess unstained, a creature worthy of their trust and reverence.

As she joined Mooda at the head of the procession Dawn was troubled with doubts. In her heart she knew she disbelieved every syllable, every dogma of the natives' religion and that she was unworthy of even their misdirected and ill-understood worship. Her rendezvous with Tom during the night amounted to a violation of the most sacred pledge she was required to take, and were her followers ever to know of it they would certainly kill her.

To them, and to herself to some extent, she was a defiled goddess. In fairness to all she should rebel. But it would mean death to Tom, too, and she was ready to profane the native religion rather than submit him to any risk. She found herself wondering about Tom. Would he be able to find his way out of the jungle?

Into another clearing the procession moved toward a rude hut, its entrance flanked by two crude idols. This was the Temple of Malunghu, the only edifice in existence holy enough to receive the goddess. To Dawn it appeared as a prison within which she must fret away the days until Tom arrived to reclaim her.

She followed Hasmali through the entrance into the dismal place. Her maids followed, the remainder of the crowd repairing to a huge tree with overspreading branches in the center of the clearing. Under those branches, in her bridal robes, she was to be made Thabu.

Hasmali took formal leave of the bride and charged Mooda with her care. Mooda now was free of worries. She had spent a troubled night, fearful that either Shep or Tom would try to prevent the ceremony. She was too superstitious a creature to place a watch over Dawn, fearful of offending Malunghu and inviting horrible disaster down upon herself. Now, certain that Dawn was beyond all hope of rescue, she became downright joyful.

To the vivacious girl for whose favor Pigeon had suffered the whipping at Shep's hand Mooda accorded the honor of Chief Maid of Malunghu. The honored girl's dark eyes lighted up with pleasure. She had a jealous hatred of Dawn, and as instructress to the other attendants, she was permitted a freedom that would allow her to speak subtle insults to the bride.

As she stripped Dawn of her garments, the Honor Maid searched her face with knowing eyes. Dawn, knowing herself to be guilty, could not but suspect that the girl knew of her meeting with Tom. It was of course impossible to say anything, least of all to swear the maid to secrecy. She winced uncomfortably.

Mooda, who had retired while the maids arrayed Dawn in her wedding clothes, returned and impatiently informed them that Hasmali was waiting. The Honor Maid required a few minutes more to arrange the beads and head-dress.

"Your daughter will soon be ready for her mother's last blessing."

She accented the words "daughter" and "mother," slightly to Dawn's wonder and intensely to Mooda's displeasure. Mooda glanced quickly at the insolent young negress, who returned the glance with bland innocence.

"You will be proud of this daughter," continued the maid, her tone again rich with irony. Dawn lowered her eyes.

"Leave us now," Mooda instructed the girl, with ill-contained rage. The maid and the other attendants departed to join the others under the tree. Mooda followed them to the door, watched them out of sight and, after a quick inspection of the room to assure herself that nobody could hear, she returned to Dawn.

"Has that Maid of Malunghu been talking to you, Dawn?" she asked suspiciously.

Dawn looked at her surprised. "No, Mooda. Why do you ask?"

The elder woman bestowed a curse on the absent maid. "I don't trust her," she grumbled.

To relieve Mooda's worry, rather than because of any pride in her position, Dawn drew herself up regally, and urged that they forget the girl. "After today," she reminded Mooda, "I'll be a goddess, and she will be my slave."

Again Mooda radiated happiness. That was true, Dawn would be a goddess. A word from Dawn and Mooda could visit whatever abuses she liked on the native girl. She resolved to warn the girl against sarcastic observations on threat of punishment to Malunghu.

"Malunghu's bride!" she exclaimed rapturously. "My Dawn, a goddess! Never did Malunghu have such a bride. Great will be the luck you will bring our people."

To the two women there came the sound of voices in song, a song in a rollicking key that intruded shockingly upon the melancholy music of the ceremony.

"It's a long way to Tipperary,
It's a long way to go;
It's a long way to Tipperary,
To the sweetest girl I know."

"The prisoners!" exclaimed Mooda.

Dawn, too, recognized the song so favored by the lonely British. "What do they want?" she wondered, crossing to the window. Mooda followed quickly after her.

"Come, Dawn, they are ready."

But Dawn's curiosity was aroused. "Where are the prisoners going? Their new camp is not here. I do not see the Germans, only the Askari guards."

"Ten of the white men are going home today," explained Mooda. "Captain Eric is sending them to Tabera. They are exchanged for German prisoners."

Again rebellion surged within Dawn. She resolved to try a bit of strategy. Mooda, she knew, was immersed in voodooistic fears, and if she knew that she was aiding a defiled creature to become the bride of Malunghu perhaps she would withdraw her efforts.

"There is one Englishman who will not go," she spoke aloud. "He has promised me."

"Your talk is silly, Dawn," scolded Mooda. "Before the sun goes down you will be the bride of Malunghu."

"No! No, mother Mooda," Dawn cried passionately, "I never will be the bride of Malunghu. My Tom will come for me."

"Be careful. The witchman might hear!" cautioned Mooda in alarm.

"The witchman shall hear," Dawn insisted "I'll tell them all." Mooda leaned toward the girl, almost too frightened to put her question. "Tell them what?" she gasped.

"That I am unworthy to be Thabu. Last night at the Place of the White Moon, my Tom came to me. I belong to him alone!"

Distrait, Mooda rushed to the door to ascertain whether they were in the presence of eavesdroppers. None was about. Outside the merry songs of the prisoners and the solemn incantations of the natives drowned all minor noises. Mooda was satisfied that Dawn's rash proclamation had not escaped through the hut's walls.

"You must not tell them," she counseled Dawn, "else they will kill you."

Mooda's panic could not weaken Dawn's resolution. "I will run to the Place of the White Moon, away from here. There my Tom will come for me. He swore he would, and I swore I'd wait."
